The OECD estimates that USD 6.9 trillion per year is needed until 2030 to achieve the goals of the Paris Agreement in alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). This session will present how Infrastructure Governance Indicators (IGIs) can support sustainable infrastructure outcomes at all stages of the infrastructure policy cycle, with a specific focus on the importance of long-term development plans and their link to infrastructure planning and decision-making. This session will include presentations on best practices in strategic planning for infrastructure on how to better coordinate efforts to further reduce emissions, lift the sustainability of infrastructure across South-East Asia, and put its economies on a

	pathway for the green transition. It will include a presentation from Sweden on the levers that helped support the successful reduction of emissions in the transport sector.
15:15 – 15:25	Break
15:25 – 16:25	Session 2: Value for Money in Infrastructure Moderator: Mr. Edwin Lau, Head of Division, Infrastructure and Public Procurement, OECD Speakers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Mr. Roderick Planta, Assistant Secretary, Investment Programming Group, National Economic and Development Authority (NEDA), Philippines</li> <li>• Mr. Russell Singer, Infrastructure Development Unit Chief, Office of Development Finance, Bureau of Economic and Business Affairs, U.S. State Department</li> <li>• Ms. Koh Yoo-Eun, Specialist, Head of Global Cooperation Team, Public and Private Infrastructure Investment Management Center (PIMAC), Korea Development Institute</li> <li>• Mr. Srinivas Sampath, Director, Water and Urban Development Sector Office - Emerging Areas, Asian Development Bank</li> </ul> Description: Recognising the urgent challenges that the global community faces, countries can address these within tight fiscal constraints by achieving value for money through their infrastructure investments. Countries can demonstrate value for money by factoring in a wide range of social, economic and environmental benefits over the asset lifecycle into their investment decisions. Making quality infrastructure also requires countries to have access to credible, efficient, transparent and sustainable certification frameworks and international standards, as promoted by the Blue Dot Network, to create a level playing field and build trust around quality infrastructure investments. This session will include presentations focused on how South-East Asian countries can improve investment outcomes by strengthening cost-benefit analysis for ESG, as well as the evaluation of economic criteria.
