Welcome Message

Greetings to visitors and readers,

It is my sincere pleasure to introduce the OECD Korea Policy Centre (KPC) to you all. KPC was established under the Memorandum of Understanding (Treaty of the Republic of Korea No.1903) between the Republic of Korea and the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) in 2008. By sharing and disseminating standards and policy experiences of OECD member countries to developing nations, KPC has served as a global platform for peer-learning and mutual co-operation since its establishment.

Our Centre is particularly committed to offering specialized educational programs, international meetings, seminars, and forums for public officials and field experts in the Asia-Pacific region to exchange advanced legal guidelines and systems in areas of taxation, competition, public governance, health and social policy.

The global environment has also become increasingly challenging as global climate crisis, prolonged recession, digital transformation, and deepening polarization among nations loom on the horizon.

Nevertheless, we are determined to take every crisis as an opportunity for learning and growth. By providing timely and effective policy advice to such changes, we aim to renew our roles as a critical partner between the OECD and Asia-Pacific region. KPC will take on a leading role for policy reform and innovation in the Asia-Pacific region and beyond.

Thank you.

December 2023

Executive Secretary
OECD/Korea Policy Centre

➤ Mission

The OECD Korea Policy Centre was established with the following goals, in the fields of tax, competition, public governance, and health, and social policy:

01

to facilitate the exchange of experience in the Asian-Pacific region and to improve Asian-Pacific government officials' capacity through regular meetings, workshops, seminars, and other events to be a resource centre to support OECD's work with non-OECD economies in the Asian-Pacific region to strengthen the understanding of the Asian-Pacific societies of OECD's research, analysis, and standard setting to contribute to the OECD's mission to promote "Better Policies for Better Lives," aiming to improve the economic and social well-being of people in the Asia-Pacific region and around the world.

02

03

To achieve these goals, under the guidance of the OECD, the Centre has been disseminating the OECD's advanced policy practices and recent policy trends to the economies in the Asia-Pacific region. It includes hosting 416 international events and training for 16,744 officials for 115 countries (as of 2023), translating and publishing the latest research of the OECD, expanding its policy network with relevant local institutions, policymakers, experts, and international organisations in the region since its opening in 2007.

In its four Programmes (Tax, Competition, Public Governance, and Health and Social Policy), the Centre also utilizes South Korea's unique experience of transitioning from a post-war aid recipient to a major donor in international co-operation as the country joined membership to the OECD's Development Assistance Committee (DAC) since 2010.
